

GACE® Program Admission Assessment Updates

Test Taker FAQs

Q: What is changing?

A: In September 2019, the content of the GACE® Program Admission – Mathematics test will change.

Q: What will be different about the new Program Admission – Mathematics test?

A: The new test has an increased emphasis on data interpretation and representation, statistics, and probability. There is a reduced emphasis on algebra and geometry. To find out what is covered on your test, review the test specifications in the Program Admission Assessment Test at a Glance (TAAG) in the Test Preparation section of the GACE website.

Q: Did the GACE Program Admission – Reading and Program Admission – Writing tests change?

A: The content of these two tests will remain the same; only the test codes will change. The test code for Reading will be 210 and the test code for Writing 212.

Q: When will updated test prep be available for the new GACE Program Admission – Mathematics test?

A: All aligned test prep is available now in the Test Preparation section of the GACE website, including Khan Academy® materials and the free study companion and Test at a Glance (TAAG). Interactive Practice Tests (IPTs) are available in the ETS Store.

Q: How can I contact ETS about the GACE assessments?

A: See the Contact Us page on the GACE website for information.
